

Sean Cochran
Executive Director of Economic Development
City of Pikeville

A lifelong resident of Pikeville, Sean has served in several leadership roles with the City of Pikeville during his 5-year tenure. His career with the city began in tourism and the position of Assistant City Manager before accepting the role of Executive Director of Economic Development. Sean's background before coming to the City of Pikeville was in sales and marketing. Most recently before his role with the city, Sean worked in the oil and natural gas industry providing sales and service to several major natural gas companies located in Eastern Kentucky. He has been successful as a small business owner and understands the challenges facing business owners today.
